HOAGLAND'S
NEW PATENT SHAFT COUPLING!
W. E. COOPER
HAS PURCHASED THE RIGHT FOR THIS County of the above Patent and will hereafter use it in the construction of all the Vehicles manufactured at his extensive
Carriage Factory,
Corner of Second and Morrison Streets
He respectfully refers to the following
CARD.
Having examined the New Patent Shaft Coupling invented by H. R. Hoagland we feel pleasure in informing the public that in our opinion it is the safest and best method of connecting shafts or tongues to all vehicles that has ever been used.
It fastens without bolt or screw and is therefore easily and speedily separated. It rests in Gutta Percha so as to be entirely free from the rattling sound which so often disturbs restless horses. It is easily changed so that the shafts or tongue may be detached in an instant and is convenient, safe and secure.
It is easy to change to this style of coupling any buggy or other vehicle now in use and with small expense. We have come to the conclusion to use this new invention ourselves and recommend its use in all cases. We consider it far superior to the Brewster Patent heretofore considered the best in use.

[DISPATCHES TO THE OREGONIAN.]

EASTERN DATES TO JUNE [illegible].

Washington News

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The House Territorial Committee to-day decided to report a bill for the admission of New Mexico as a State with the title of Lincoln. In the Territorial organization of the Indian country to be called Douglas.

The Senate Judiciary Committee have taken no action in the case of Ackerman. The belief is expressed that the nomination will be withdrawn. If not the name will be reported back without recommendation either way.

The Senate Finance Committee have made no change in the leading articles of the tariff bill. The income tax is left at 3 per cent; exemption reduced to $2 000; limitation of house rent to $500 omitted. In the postoffice appropriation bill Sumner's amendment for penny postage was rejected 10 to 29; that for two cent postage by 23 to 28; for allowing all newspapers to go free to bona fide subscribers in the United States by 23 to 25. Drake's bill allowing $500 to each member of the Senate and House for postage, the latter without division, while Spencer's bill for abolition of the franking privilege is not to take effect till October; agreed to 35 to 23.

In the House the following bills were introduced: A bill authorizing the President to open negotiations with the British North American provinces for admission as States of the Union, and a bill to annex the dominion of Dominica and providing for the public surrender to the United States of the public buildings and fortifications and to be incorporated among the States in the Union of the United States of Dominica.

The House considered and passed the fortification bill appropriating $1 264 750, including Fort Point, $100 000; Fort Renuna Point, $100 000; Fort at Alcatraz $100 000.

The Army bill appropriating $29 9[illegible]7 8[illegible] was passed.

Cullom reported the bill authorizing the people of New Mexico to form a Constitution and State government, and for the admission of such State as the State of Lincoln; recommitted.

Cox from the Committee on Banking reported a bill requiring the national banks going into liquidation to retire their circulating notes; passed.

CHICAGO, June 20.—The Tribune's Washington special says that among the applicants for the secretaryship of Utah is Gen. B. F. Shaw, of Dixon, Illinois.

It is announced that the Senate Judiciary Committee have agreed to report in favor of Ackerman's confirmation.

There is a prospect of a warm debate over Whittemore's case, though many members want to proceed at once to a vote.

The San Domingo Committee cannot report to the Senate before Wednesday and perhaps not before Thursday, as the evidence is not yet all printed. The consideration of the treaty also goes over for two or three days more. The majority report will be very severe on consular agent Perry, who was the principal witness against Babcock, and whom they mean to extinguish by trying to show that he is a thief and a perjurer.

The Senate to-day received a large package of papers from the President conveying the correspondence and orders from the Executive to naval commanders and others relative to treaty negotiations.

But few Senators really want to press the franking bill, but the chances are that it will go through in some form to-morrow. As it now stands it abolishes franking from the 1st of October, except that newspapers are to get their exchanges free and country newspapers are to circulate free in the county where published.

There are some objections to adding the matter to the Postoffice appropriation bill, but it will probably be done.

A [illegible] paper says some Chairmen of Committees express the opinion that the session of Congress will have to be extended beyond the 15th of July in order to get through the absolutely necessary business.

A Washington dispatch says the resolution offered by Bingham, which passed the House on Wednesday last, relating to Cuba, recommending interposition by the President to prevent cruelties in that Island hereafter, has gone to the Committee on Foreign Relations, and there is the best authority for saying that it will not be heard of again.

The Senate has too much business to attend to during the remaining three weeks of the session to enter into any long discussion of a Cuban complication, and it is not likely that the resolution will be considered by the Committee. It certainly will not be reported to the Senate unless demanded by a vote.

From Cuba

NEW YORK, June 20.—The steamer G. B. Upton has arrived from Aspinwall. The officers confirm the previous reports of the capture and destruction of the first expedition which left this port on the Upton on the 16th of May. They report the successful landing on the return trip of 100 men and additional supplies taken aboard at Aspinwall. The landing was effected at an unfrequented part of the coast infested by Spaniards. The entire cruise was made under the Mexican flag. Another expedition, on a larger scale, is in contemplation.

General News.

NEW YORK, June 20.—The French demand for wheat subsided on Friday by reason of showers there. Since then prices have been firm. The price for No. 2 Milwaukie to-day $1 30@1 35 ₵ bushel currency, against $1 40 ₵ bushel on Friday. English shippers are buying moderately. The western wheat crop suffered a good deal from the drought. Last week's rains were quite general. They have changed the whole aspect for the better. Spring wheat, if the remainder of the season proves prosperous, will be a full average yield. The stock of California wheat is 40 000 bushels, crop of 1869. At last sale $1 80 for 1869.

BOSTON, June 20.—The Governor has vetoed the Hartford and Erie Railroad bill.

At Mystic Park to-day, Goldsmith Maid beat George Palmer and the American Girl, Palmer taking the third heat. Time—2 22, 2 [illegible], 2 21½ and 2 25.

INDIANAPOLIS, June 21.—Reliable information from Washington states that Indiana will have two Congressmen at large to elect under the new Congressional apportionment bill.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Nearly [illegible]00 immigrants but just arrived from Europe have enlisted in the United States army in this city during the past few days—mostly Germans and Irish.

CALIFORNIA

From San Francisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—After the dispatches closed last night the Board of Supervisors passed a resolution authorizing the Mayor to offer a reward of $5 000 for the discovery of the parties who tampered with the votes of the first ward on the railroad subsidy, and also accepted an invitation to participate in the celebration of the 4th of July.

Dr. Sharkey and R. I. Clement were put on the stand in the matter of the alleged [illegible] in the rates of the Board for street railroad franchises. They contradicted each other, and it came out that an agreement had been drawn up and signed by which Clement was to receive a portion of the stock for services, the exact nature of which was not clearly defined.

A large whale seen in the bay above the city last evening was chased for some hours unsuccessfully by boats.

A man named Collins, for an unprovoked and outrageous assault on Chinamen on the Oakland [illegible] a few days since, was yesterday fined $100. Another brute convicted of the same offense will be sentenced to-day.

This morning at 11 o'clock Joe Purcell, a discharged soldier, was attacked on Montgomery street by two men, one of whom endeavored to hold him while the other struck him a heavy blow in the abdomen. He cried "police," and officers Stone and [illegible] ran to his assistance, gave chase to the would-be thieves and arrested them after Stone had fired a shot after them. They gave their names as Chas. Hamilton and Chas. A. Richard.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 21.—A valuable horse belonging to Wm Carr was killed on Market street last evening by running away and colliding with an express wagon.

The teachers of the Cincinnati School Department are organizing a grand excursion to San Francisco, to come off after the Fourth of July.

The Board of Regents to-day elected Professor D. C. Gilman, of the Sheffield Scientific School, Yale College, President; re-elected Louis Sachs as one of the members of the Board of Regents, and elected Judge Field Professor of Law. The proposition of Toland Medical College of this city to affiliate with the State University and devote all college property to the State institution was adopted, and a Committee appointed to confer with the faculty of Toland College and carry out the proposition.

The Board of Health this afternoon unanimously adopted the following resolution: Whereas, the action of this Board in reference to the bone [illegible] nuisance at the Potrero has been temporarily thwarted by the existence of a technical error in the ordinance passed by the Board of Supervisors; Resolved, that the Health Officer be instructed to inform the [illegible] once more that they are to remove forthwith from the present locality, or that this Board will prosecute rigorously [illegible] of the provisions of the health laws passed by the last Legislature.

The amount of treasure remitted to New York by rail last week was $245 000. Mostly gold bullion.

The detective officers who commenced ferreting out the frauds which were perpetrated in the late railroad subsidy election in the 1st ward have certain clues by which it is possible they may be able to discover the guilty persons. A reward of $5 000 proposed by the Board of Supervisors will probably greatly stimulate exertions in this direction.

Embryo lottery schemes are multiplying rapidly. One party are getting up a scheme to include farms, carriages, horses, jewelry and cash as prizes, and one of the best [illegible] operators many years on the coast has arranged to dispose of his property on a novel plan. He issues two hundred thousand tickets at twenty-five cents each, numbered to correspond with those of the Mercantile Library lottery, but sells not less than a package of $[illegible]0 to any person. The holder of the number corresponding to that which draws the hundred thousand [illegible] in the Mercantile Library lottery will take his [illegible] house on Folsom street. The one holding the number corresponding to that which draws fifty thousand dollars, will take his horses and carriage. Next the piano, and so on through the list of prizes, including a little household furniture, plate, etc.

Geo. Holland and J. Maloy, both aliases, parties well known to the police, were arrested to-day for garroting a man on Washington street last night. They found no money on him, but will be tried for an attempt to rob.

Mining Stocks

Transactions of Stock Exchange this afternoon were confined wholly to Treasure, Savage, and Red Jacket, each of which are large. Treasure 8¼; Noonday, 2½; Jacket, 48; Ryan 1¼; Alpha 3; Imperial 35½; Chollar 18½; Point, 8¼; Norcross 9¼; Savage, 42½; Nevada 8¼.

SUMMER WANDERINGS.

MAY 26th.—When one goes on any sort of an excursion in Oregon it is necessary to be up betimes. Getting up "before the world has been aired" of a morning, is usually as great a hardship for me as it was for the author of that fastidious phrase. But as there is not a London fog to be cleared away in this bright and dry latitude, and as the mornings are clear and bright, it is rather a pleasure to get an early morning view of so cheery a world. At 5 o'clock on the 24th the train started for Celilo, where the boats of the Upper Columbia receive their passengers and freight. Being the only lady passenger, and a stranger to all the others, there was nothing to interrupt the attention I was disposed to bestow upon the country and scenery through which we were passing.

To one who is familiar with the expanse of the lower Columbia, it is difficult to recognize the same river in the narrow, dark looking current that flows between walls of dark volcanic rock for so many miles above the city of Dalles. And the railway ride to Celilo affords an excellent opportunity to study the appearance of the river in this passage. How it swirls, how it twirls, how it eddies and boils, how it races and chases, how it leaps, how it to[illegible], how one mile it rushes and another it flows, as soft as a love song sung under the [illegible]. How in one place it seethes, in another [illegible] and as smooth as the flume of some sleepy old mill. A rock entroughed torrent [illegible] none else I pledge, and in truth is a river set up on its edge.

Before leaving Portland I had heard that some steamers were going to be brought below through The Dalles and over the Cascades, and was minded to apply for passage, but after a thoughtful survey of the formation this bright May morning I concluded to wait until I was so weary of life as to be able to endure it no longer, when I had no doubt a distinguished exit could be made in the manner above hinted at.

Aside from the river itself there is little to interest the traveler in the ride to Celilo. There are rocks all about in every direction—a little grass, a great deal of sand, and some very brilliant flowers growing out of it. Then there are some Indian lodges with salmon drying beside, whose rich orange color shows through the open doorways like flame, and a few Indians fishing with a net, their long black hair falling over their shoulders and blowing into their eyes in a most inconvenient manner. But everything about an Indian's dress is inconvenient except the ease with which it is put on. Some of the younger savages had ignored dressing altogether as a [illegible] not to be undertaken until with increase of years an increase of strength shall be arrived at.

The distance to Celilo, fifteen miles, was soon accomplished, and the passengers speedily embarked on board a fine commodious steamer which was lying alongside the great warehouse of the O. S. N. Co. with steam up, ready for departure. The steward politely offered me an ante-breakfast cup of coffee, which I was glad to accept, and which was soon followed by a substantial breakfast. By the way, it always puzzles me to understand why the Navigation Company keep their best and most pleasantly arranged boats on the middle and upper Columbia. The best foot foremost is not the motive acted upon in this case certainly.

The day proved warmer than was strictly comfortable, yet not without its delights. No more ladies appearing I had the after cabin to myself, with a neat stateroom for greater seclusion if I [illegible]. Seated here in a little sewing chair, which the attentive steward found for me, I [illegible] the time between reading [illegible] History of [illegible] and [illegible]. After [illegible] Mr Taylor [illegible] the [illegible] rather [illegible] portion [illegible] majesty and [illegible] of the bluffs [illegible]. And [illegible]. The valley which [illegible] rocks and [illegible] are lacking. There are grand and flowing outlines delicately [illegible] green and brown, over-arched with the [illegible]. There are also patches of color on [illegible] where the rosy Clarkia [illegible] sunflowers are massed together. Larks are pouring their liquid melody upon the air and a few prairie hens are seen shyly stepping, their long necks among the bunch grass. At long intervals a cabin or a flatboat or a herd of Indian ponies give indications of human habitation, and thus the hours [illegible] both time and [illegible] and we arrive at Umatilla about six P. M.

Umatilla is a bit of a town set in the sand at [illegible] miles above Dalles. It serves [illegible] as a [illegible] point to the mines of northeastern Oregon [illegible] where the stages [illegible] and pack trains take their departure. It is not a thing of beauty [illegible] joy forever [illegible] its inhabitants. Yet here were evidences of the late refreshing showers which must have been doubly welcome to so arid a spot of earth.

The valley of the Umatilla now an Indian reservation is said to be a beautiful and fertile country. Even the Indians raise upon it [illegible] grains and vegetables, and an effort is being made to open it to white settlement. It is true of every valley or any spot of earth furnished with water in this country, that it produces largely. The valleys of the Des Chutes and John Day rivers on one side and of the Yakima on the other of the upper Columbia are now a good deal cultivated and furnish fine farms, while the unlimited extent of pasture land in their vicinity make them especially desirable locations for stock raisers. Yet the high bluffs intervening between the farming lands and the river prevent the traveler from getting a view of the settlement, and leave upon his mind an impression of an uninhabited country.

From Umatilla to Wallula, a distance of twenty-five miles, we steamed along in the rosy sunlight and purple twilight. That it was dark when we reached our destination was no grief to me, who had once before looked upon the beauties of the gravel beds about this spot. Historically, Wallula—the old Fort Walla Walla of the Hudson's Bay Company—is interesting. Here [illegible] are again repeated the harmonies of grandeur with grace in the lofty bluffs overhanging the river which have before won remark. But the gravel bed called Wallula is totally lacking in any local charms. A hotel it does not boast, but a sort of boarding house with beds for wayworn travelers like myself was discovered to me through the darkness by the same obliging [illegible] from the steamer. The art of not knowing how to keep a hotel has been brought to a considerable perfection all over the northwest coast, but it does not [illegible] so very much when occurring in places like Wallula. [illegible] chunks of sand were piled up in the corners of the wash stand, and a sand [illegible] the bottom of the basin. [illegible] my [illegible] ated by the [illegible] dust in my eyes. The breakfast also was well [illegible] with sand [illegible] nature of [illegible] taken into account. But what could one expect in Wallula?

On taking my seat in the coach after breakfast for Walla Walla I found that the female element was in the minority again. Eight specimens of the noble sex and one insignificant woman! Of course I subsided into my corner over the right hind wheel and submitted to have the sand thrown in my face by handsful without venturing to utter a word of remonstrance. The simple audacity of being a woman up here in this masculine territory was so powerfully impressed upon my mind that I felt compelled to sit in speechless immobility during the whole drive of thirty five miles.

Fortunately one may think without committing any impropriety, and I found considerable amusement in thinking how glad I was that there was a slight shower falling which tempered the heat and lessened the dust, and also in admiring the beautiful flowers which grow everywhere in the weary wastes of sand along the road. Such are Nature's laws of compensation that where the useful cannot flourish the beautiful is often found in the greatest perfection. The comments of my fellow passengers were not without interest either to a seeker after knowledge, although I confess to a slight feeling of mistrust when one of them declared that the soil of Powder River valley was so rich that if a man chanced to leave his [illegible] sticking in the ground at night, in the morning he would be sure to find it had sprouted eight penny nails.

Before we reached the noon station—a poor looking place on the Touchet—the sun was shining out hotly. There being no place to be seated inside the house except the public room, I sat outside on a door step with the landlord's children, who did their best to entertain me. While the eldest girl, not more than nine years of age, related anecdotes of her brothers and sisters, and told me how her ma made Sally wear her blue frock when she preferred her red, the youngest [illegible] suddenly dropped down off the fence where she had been turning and [illegible] herself in a very active manner and ejaculated piteously, "Oh my back!" Whereupon she went quite sorrowfully to a sand heap against the side of the house, and sitting down upon it commenced to hold herself together by grasping first one part of her aching frame and then another, never pausing a moment in her talk, but holding her blue fingers together as the words were jerked out from between her chattering teeth.

"Billy had the ager awful bad. Ma says I've got it because I took my shoes off when it rained. Oh my! Sally hasn't got it; she was mad cause ma wouldn't let her wear her red frock. Ma give me some bitters, but I ain't goin' to take any more cause I don't like it. Oh! Ma says my head won't ache if I take bitters. Billy has got a pup. Where'd you come from? Did you ever have the ager?" Yawns freely interspersed throughout.

The humorous and pathetic were oddly mixed up in this little pioneer specimen, and while I listened to her incessant chatter the eight masculines went to dinner within and I went—without—nobody thinking me of sufficient importance to be asked to dine. From the comments passed upon the dinner I came to the conclusion that what was their loss was my gain, since they paid their money for nothing and I paid for nothing and kept my money.

The dust and heat were intolerable for an hour after resuming our ride, then came up some friendly clouds like the shadow of a great rock in a weary land, and by and by a smart shower. Not until we came within half a dozen miles of Walla Walla did we begin to see arable land to any extent, but when we did how very pretty it looked!

MEXICAN NEWS.—The Acapulco correspondent of the San Francisco Bulletin sends dates to June 7th.

The warfare to which we have been accustomed in Mexico for years has entirely lost its military character. Subordination has ceased; the great heads of the revolution have been deserted by their followers, and the Colonels, [illegible] Captains and Lieutenants have [illegible] common robbers. The notorious Bravo, meeting one afternoon a poor old man on one of his solitary walks, kindly informed himself of his state of health, and ascertaining that he owned a small ranch, Bravo made himself known and desired the loan of $100 to be sent next morning to his headquarters. The poor hero collected that amount with the greatest trouble and sent it to the address [illegible] one of his officers came in and [illegible] that he considered himself entitled to a share [illegible] to come to an understanding [illegible] drew their revolvers, and Bravo [illegible].

Slanderous Charges

The [illegible] is one of the Herald's paragraphs on the city election

Portland [illegible] again [illegible] the election yesterday demonstrated [illegible] of fraud and corruption [illegible] the Democrats [illegible] drunk [illegible] corruption [illegible] Republican [illegible] herself and right thinking [illegible] Democratic

The Herald has a singular way of putting things. The truth is a light vote was polled in the city election but a considerable majority of it was Republican. Portland has a strange way of returning to the Democratic faith when as the result of an election that party loses one of three members that it had in the Council and finds the Republican strength in that body increased to seven, and its own diminished to two.

But this is not the most singular feature of the above paragraph. If there is any point to the charge of fraud and corruption there made it tells with more effect against the Democratic than the Republican party. The plain English of the charge is that a large portion of the Democratic party of this city is corruptible, that it was corrupted in the election that took place two weeks ago and voted the Republican ticket. But in the municipal election,—the carnival of fraud and corruption being over,—Portland, that is the Democracy of Portland was herself again. It follows, then from the admissions of the Democratic organ that it is only necessary for the Republicans, when they want to carry this city, to arrange it with the Democracy, who are ready at all times, "for a piece of bright gold," as the Herald has expressed it to sell their principles. That paper has even brought this charge against the respectable portion of its party. On the day after the election it said "The men who sold out were not all of the class known as floaters and bummers, but many of them have made claims to respectability and called themselves patriots." Now we prefer not to think so meanly of the Democratic party as the Herald professes to. Without doubt it slanders the organization with which it is associated. This city is really Republican. It has not for a dozen years given a Democratic majority in any general election save one and that was two years ago when a combination of untoward events, growing out of national politics enabled the Democrats to carry it by the trifling majority of twenty votes.

Complete Change of Front

The New York World notices and comments on the change in the Western Democracy, as exemplified in the platform recently adopted by that party in Ohio. It says the Democracy in the West (it should not include the Democracy of Oregon, who go for out and out repudiation) is now in accord with the Democracy of New York that it has abandoned all opposition to the Fifteenth Amendment that it has dropped the negro question out of practical politics, that it has abandoned its doctrine that the bonds are payable in greenbacks as a thing of practical importance, and has really removed the subject from the field of discussion by declaring for a reduction of taxes, which will stop the payment of the principal in any kind of money. "This earnest demand for lower taxes," says the World "is a virtual relinquishment of the greenback issue as a practical question, since taxes are the only resource for paying the debt even in depreciated currency."

In commenting on this change of front the Cincinnati Gazette remarks: "Thus all the distinctive features of the Young Democracy of the West—repudiation, greenback payment of the bonds a new issue of greenbacks, resistance to the Fifteenth Amendment, hostility to negro suffrage, and denunciation of the reconstruction of the seceded States—are dropped, and the Ohio Democracy presents itself as a piece of dough ready to be moulded into any shape, and by any hands that the party exigencies may require."

To remove the duties altogether on the "free trade" principle, would, as the San Francisco Bulletin observes "quash a thousand millions of invested capital deprive us of a great part of the $800 000 000 annual home manufacture, and oblige us to increase our foreign debt by purchasing abroad. That would no doubt be fine for England but how for us? Would work be plenty here? Or living cheap to the thousands thrown idle and penniless? We cannot quite afford to dance to that piping of the free trade ultraists. Since we must raise large revenue, we may as well discriminate moderately in favor of our own mines manufactures and shipping, and in so doing we shall aid our farmers as well."

Some time ago a treaty was concluded with the Sandwich Islands by which it was stipulated that the products of those islands were to be admitted into the United States free of duty. This treaty has been rejected by the United States Senate. A writer at Honolulu states that the ratification of this treaty would have resulted in strengthening British influence at the Islands and enriching British operators there while it would have annihilated the influence of the United States there, which is now feeble enough.

When the Indian Appropriation bill as reported in the House, came up in the Senate Mr Corbett moved to increase the amount to be appropriated for the Indian service in Oregon from $36 000 to $47 [illegible]. The Senate agreed to the amendment. This is exclusive of any money that it may be necessary to pay on account of treaties.

The richest thing of the week is the lusty crow of the Democratic organ of this city over the Democratic triumph in the municipal election. If the loss of one member of the Council makes the organ so happy it would probably be in ecstasies if the remaining two had gone also.

Our deluded neighbor is trying to persuade himself that his party had elected the Councilman in the Second Ward. Some people are very anxious to be deceived.

The Cincinnati Gazette has the following pertinent remarks on the Cuban question: Mr Banks report on Cuba (of which we have already given an abstract by telegraph) proves so much as to embarrass the case. He makes out that the Cubans can put [illegible] men in the field. Then surely they need none of our help. He makes out a fearful list of wrongs we suffer from Spain and then for reparation he proposes that we shall declare neutrality between Spain and Cuba. This is a most impotent conclusion. We have cause for war therefore we declare neutrality. Have we not kept neutrality so far? There is no connection between Banks' case and his remedy. Have we not rather a queer Committee of Foreign Relations in the House under Mr Banks? Is it a Hippodrome or a Fenian Center, or a Filibustering Junta, or what is it?

OREGON

[illegible] Newburgh has received a [illegible] wagon from New York. Such wagons no doubt could be made in Oregon.

The Soda Springs five miles above Lebanon Linn county are becoming quite a resort for the public, and are fast assuming the dignity of a watering place of importance.

The Mountaineer learns that the election for county officers in Wasco [illegible] before Judge Whitten as [illegible] holding a special term of Court [illegible] county.

The Jacksonville News is particularly severe on the Democrats in Jackson county who refused to vote the Democratic ticket. By the tone of that paper it would seem that Democrats are owned by the party and must ratify what is set up by the conventions or in other words that Democrats are not freemen.

During the late campaign the Albany Democrat denounced Fay's repudiation disgorgement letter and desired that it should be distinctly understood that Fay was not a Democrat. The election is over and now Fay's organ the Democratic News claims that Mr Fay with his disgorgement principles has succeeded by eleven majority and comes back at Mr Democrat and charges it with being a subsidized sheet and with lending its ready aid to defeat the Democratic candidate for State Senator in Jackson county.

The Polk county paper says: Some weeks ago we mentioned a coal bank discovered in the Coast Range mountains by Mr Litchfield. Mr L in prospecting his discovery and finds it to be more valuable than at first supposed. As he tunnels in the bank it is found to be increased in size and the coal is better in quality. From some specimens we have seen we judge that it will make gas. Mr L intends fully opening his lode this summer and if he can make a profit on quarrying coal for the market he will do so. The only difficulty in the way now is a lack of easy and cheap transportation.

Our Indian Policy

In the Senate recently, the Indian Appropriation bill was under discussion. An amendment was offered to appropriate $30 000 for the purchase of materials and tools for certain Indians over whom Quaker agents have been appointed. Senator Williams took occasion to make the following remarks:

Much display has been made in various ways through the country about the success with which the Quakers have conducted Indian affairs where they have been in charge, and there has been an invidious distinction made between the Quakers and other persons who have charge of Indian agencies and the control of Indians. Now, sir, it is a very easy thing for these Quakers to succeed if they are favorites of the Government. When twenty five or thirty thousand dollars are put into the hands of a man to be used at his discretion, to ingratiate himself with the Indians or to please them no doubt he can succeed in his administration and there will be peace between those Indians and the agent and perhaps with persons living in the neighborhood of the agency or in the locality where those Indians reside. But no such favor is exhibited toward other superintendents and Indian agents. There are men in charge of Indians in the State that I have the honor in part to represent who are men distinguished for their goodness and kindness and piety who do not get money to buy a yoke of oxen for the Indians when they need them. The appropriations are cut down, and they are deprived of the power of doing what they would for the improvement and civilization of the Indians.

Then it is alleged that the system so far as they are concerned, is a failure, and the civilians who do not happen to belong to this particular class of persons are excluded from the administration of Indian affairs because they are not successful when the Government denies to them the means to make their administration a success, when every appropriation for an Indian agency or an Indian reservation in the State in which I live is cut down in a niggardly manner so that there are little or no funds at the discretion of the agent or superintendent while to these Quakers money is given by the thousands, and then it is claimed that they are the persons who are competent to manage Indian affairs, and that nobody else can manage them!

I have as much confidence in the Quakers as any other person, although I believe there is a good deal of humbuggery in this idea that because men are Quakers they can manage Indian affairs better than men who belong to the Methodist, the Presbyterian, or the Congregational church. I know there are divines in the State to which I belong eminent in the Methodist church men who are as fit for the administration of Indian affairs as any men of any possible class, who are put out of office, and other persons substituted because they are not suitable persons, they are not as suitable as other persons, because they are not Quakers!

Now sir, I do not wish to oppose reasonable appropriations for the improvement and civilization of the Indians, but I wish to see fair play. Do not pick out a particular locality this northern superintendency, where the Indians are peaceable and quiet, and where there is no great difficulty in controlling them and donate money by tens of thousands to the persons who have charge of these Indians, and then claim that their policy is superior to any other policy that any other agents may adopt elsewhere when to those agents you deny the means of doing what these Quakers do. Give to the superintendents and agents elsewhere as much money as you do these Quakers and I venture the assertion that their policy will be just as successful and that there is nothing so peculiar about this class of persons that enables them to excel all other people everywhere of every class and description in the administration of Indian affairs.

I think, Mr President that the appropriations upon this bill are rather liberal toward the Indians and in some cases I think they are unprecedented. Heretofore it has been impossible to get appropriations sufficient to comply with the stipulations of treaties with the Indians and it is true that in many cases the Government has failed in its niggardly course to perform the treaties it has made with the Indians and to make the necessary appropriations to carry out the stipulations of treaties. Now the policy seems to be changed, and not only are the treaties to be fulfilled, but here is a particular agent who is to have $25 000 to be disposed of for "beneficent purposes" and here is another agent who is to have $30 000 to be disposed of at his pleasure. A B and C are picked out who are concerned in the administration of our Indian affairs, and money is to be put into their hands to be disposed of at his pleasure while other persons equally deserving and who have quite as much to do, and whose necessities are as great are entirely overlooked and disregarded and then complaint is made because they are not so successful as these other persons who have these large donations of money made to them.

All I ask on this subject is simply that the Government deal fairly with all concerned and if this amount of money is to be given to this northern superintendency then give to the Indian superintendencies and agencies elsewhere money as much as they ask as you do here and if their policy is not as successful as the one here then of course I shall admit that I am mistaken, but until that is done I shall not agree that there is any special merit in any particular class of persons over any others on account of their religious professions or claims.

The Third Ward

Portland June 21 1870

EDITOR OREGONIAN

Permit me to correct an error in your paper of this morning. It is stated that the only contest in the Third Ward at the city election yesterday was between Mr Besser and myself for the long term in the Council. There was no contest between us. Mr Besser was nominated for the long term and all the effort made on election day was for the election of the ticket [illegible]. The [illegible] grew out of the fact that your paper on the morning of the election erroneously stated that Mr Besser had been nominated for the short term. Tickets were printed accordingly which led to much confusion at the polls.

With great respect etc

W. JAIR HILL

[It is proper for us to state in regard to this matter that in printing the ticket in the way in which it appeared we acted upon information that we deemed reliable relative to an arrangement said to have been effected in regard to the long and short terms and can only express regret that the error or misunderstanding should have led to confusion.—ED OREGONIAN.]

The Carlinville (Ill) Democrat thus records an elopement that happened in that place a few days since: "On Thursday evening John Looney ran away with Hannah Raab, one of the hash slingers at the Loetch House. It is hoped they are married."

CURRENT NOTES

Victor Hugo's net profits on his publications in the year 1869 amounted to nearly 200 000 francs. But he spent nearly the whole amount in enabling his sons to establish the Rappel newspaper in Paris.

Dr Cornelius Holland a successful physician and politician died at Canton Me recently aged 86 years. He was a member of the Convention which framed the Constitution of Maine of which there are now but one or two survivors. He served five terms in the State Legislature and in 1831 was elected to Congress as a Jackson Democrat.

The Methodists have a Metropolitan Church in Washington that has cost them $200 000. The Congregationalists have one equally large but less expensive. The Universalists are engaged in raising $100 000 for a centenary church. The Lutherans and the Christians are believed to have similar projects in hand and the Unitarians propose to raise $50 000 outside of the city for a similar enterprise.

The population of India is 161 [illegible] 691. Feudatory India estimated 48 000 000; total 212 [illegible] 621. Number of square miles 1 5 7 [illegible]. The Province of Oude has the greatest density of population—474 persons to the square mile. All India has 135 to the mile and Russia has 10 persons to the mile the United States only 26 Brazil only 2 Turkey only 20. The Province of Oude has 51 8 per cent of males and 48 2 of females, while England has 48 64 per cent of males and 51 26 per cent of females.

Paying the Debt by Taxing It

[From the New York Times]

The plan of paying off the public debt in paper has completely failed and the attention of the Democratic party now seems to be devoted to the task of finding out whether there is not some other way in which the people who trusted the Government in the hour of its difficulties can be got at and outmanœuvred and disgusted so that the nation shall never be able to borrow at low rates of interest. The Ohio State platform seems to show that the party has found something that will answer the purpose but it does not seem to have had brains enough to devise anything original for this last contrivance is one of Gen Butler's, and was produced in the House by that eminent financier two years ago, for Republican use—but it met with no favor. It consists in subjecting the interest on the bonds to a special tax over and above the income tax to which, in common with all other sources of income, it is now exposed. This new tax ought, according to the Ohio Democrats to equal in amount the fair average rate of taxation levied in each State—we presume for State purposes. An effort has been made already to accomplish this through the State Legislatures which if successful would of course have forever put an end to all borrowing on the part of the United States as it would have left it in the power of any State to prevent any of its citizens deriving benefit from any loan made to the General Government by simply taxing away all the interest. The new plan proposes to have the General Government do the work of killing its own credit by arbitrarily reducing the interest on its own bonds by retaining a portion of the money under the name of "a tax," and it really appears as if some of the Democratic politicians believed giving it this name would deceive people as to the nature of the operation. Nobody, however would be deceived by it. To pay a man the stipulated interest on his loan and then have a revenue collector stationed at the door to take five or ten per cent of it from him as he went out, would be simply cheating and the simplest and most ignorant would know it. It would be neither more nor less than a round about and somewhat impudent way of repudiating our lawful obligations.

What is most remarkable about all this however is not the moral obliquity on the part of the Democrats which it reveals so much as its gross stupidity. What does more than anything else to keep the party out of power, is the total want of popular confidence in its honesty. The majority does not believe what it says—questions the sincerity of its indignation and doubts whether it advocates anything from conviction or has any other aim than to make trouble. Instead of trying to get rid of this bad reputation by steady adherence through good and evil report to some plan or other the party hardly ever opens its mouth without confirming it. If it had stuck firmly to its hostility to greenbacks it would now have the benefit of whatever opposition has recently shown itself in the Republican ranks to the legal tender policy. If it had stuck firmly to the hard money and good faith doctrine, it would have had the benefit of the aberrations on these subjects which were witnessed among Republican politicians in 1867 8, and if it were now to take up financial reform pure and simple it would make no small impression on the minds of a large portion of the public. But nothing seems to attract it which has not a grain or two of what Irishmen call "divilment" in it. It rarely takes up anything nowadays which cannot be used as a missile. Indeed the whole party has almost dissolved into a band of "bummers," without order organization, leaders or any fixed object beyond the general one of frightening the country and picking up whatever happens to be lying about, which somebody else is likely to want.

A "DEBATE" IN CONGRESS.—There is a humorous publication called Punchinello issued in New York. Its condemnation of a recent congressional debate is good. It is as follows:

Then there was a debate upon the proposition to abolish the mission to Rome.

"Mr Brooks said most of his constituents were Roman Catholics. Therefore there should be no mission to Rome.

"Mr Dawes said that Brooks used to be a Know Nothing. Therefore there should not be a mission to Rome.

Mr Cox said that they used to burn witches in Massachusetts. Therefore there should be a mission to Rome.

Mr Hoar said they didn't. Therefore there should not be a mission to Rome.

Mr Voorhees said they burnt a Roman Catholic Asylum in Boston. Therefore there should be a mission to Rome.

Mr Dawes said they burnt a Negro Asylum in New York. Therefore there should not be a mission to Rome.

Mr Voorhees said Dawes was another. Therefore there should be a mission to Rome.

Mr Bingham said Powell was a much better painter than Titian and Vinnie Ream a much better sculptor than Michael Angelo. Therefore there should not be a mission to Rome.

"Republican Chorus—You are.
Democratic Chorus—We ain't.
Republican Chorus—You did.
Democratic Chorus—We didn't.
Solo by the Speaker—Order.
Democratic Chorus—There should be (da capo with gavel accompaniment.)
Republican Chorus—There should not be (ditto, ditto.)

After weighing these arguments the House adjourned without doing any thing about it.

AN ORIGINAL WOMAN'S RIGHTS.—The following sly hit is from the [illegible]: There is an eminent propriety in this woman's movement originating in America not only because we are less bound than other nations by usages which have no merit except that of antiquity nor because freedom and equality have always been our watchwords and are now our practice but because woman's rights were recognized here when the country was first discovered. The American Indian has always recognized woman's rights to labor. Every career which in her narrow circle could be obtained for her was opened. No species of labor however arduous was denied her. The warrior in fact rarely entrenched upon her privileges. While she labored he slept; when he had killed the game she bore it home on her shoulders so that life then presented a happy picture of the most advanced theories of woman's rights. Let us no longer then live under the reproach of being worse than savages but let us yield gracefully to what is so evidently our manifest destiny.

The Democratic News exulting over the late election says Oregon is redeemed thank God from the thraldom to which she has been subjected by the Williamses the Woodses and the Hineses and Cookses.

Just so we suppose of course the News desires to pass the State quietly into the hands of the Lanes, the Fayses, the Shileses and the Whiteakerses and Jones familieses. Go it your rule will end in 1872.—Dalles Republican.

"Here, Alfred, is an apple divide it politely with your sister. Give the larger part to the other person, my child." Alfred handed the apple to his little sister, saying, "Here, sis, you divide it yourself."

A NEW STORY OF LORD BYRON.—You may expect another explosion of mad poetry from Lord Byron. [illegible] Holland who returned from Geneva a few days ago told Mr Gallatin that he was a bearer of a considerable cargo of verses from his lordship to Murray the publisher—the subject not known. That you may have a higher relish for the new poem I give you a little anecdote which is told in London. Some time ago Lord Byron's books were sold at auction where a gentleman purchased a splendid edition of Shakespeare. When it was sent home a volume was missing. After several fruitless inquiries of the auctioneer the purchaser went to Byron. "What play was in the volume?" asked he. "I think Othello." "Ah! I remember. I was reading it that when Lady Byron did something to vex me. I [illegible] threw the book at her head and she carried it off [illegible] You can get your book [illegible]"—Letter from Gallatin [illegible]

PASSENGERS FOR SAN FRANCISCO.—The side wheel steamship [illegible] Commander sailed at [illegible] yesterday for San Francisco with the [illegible] passengers Mrs G [illegible] Mrs [illegible] Rev [illegible] Towers Mrs [illegible] and wife [illegible] and family Mrs P C [illegible] Church [illegible] L P W Quimby Mrs H Larnee Mrs [illegible] Wm Pickett [illegible] and family [illegible] Mrs L Freidenrich Capt Price [illegible] D Friedenrich W B and nephew [illegible] C Burmester Douglass [illegible] J P Gardner J Hews J P Gardner [illegible] Miss Derby [illegible] Mathews and wife Mrs [illegible] W Church S Patter Mrs [illegible] Jacob Davis Mrs Regan and child E Corson, Jacob Davis [illegible] messenger) and [illegible] G S Chance [illegible] 45 in steerage.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE CELEBRATION.—At the adjourned meeting at the Council Chamber last evening Capt [illegible] was called to the Chair and Mr W A Holbrook was chosen Secretary. The following named gentlemen were elected to serve as a Committee of Arrangements: B Goldsmith Mayor to be Chairman of the Committee E J Northrup A B Richardson J B Lappeus [illegible] H Lewis O F Bell J H [illegible] Egan W [illegible] Burk A P Dennison C Bills B G Whitehouse J S Buchtel and H L Herman. The Committee was authorized to add at their discretion to the Committee and to make such arrangements as they may see fit. A meeting of the Committee at the Council Chamber is called for two o'clock P M to day.

FOURTH OF JULY REGATTA.—The Portland Yacht Club have decided upon having an annual regatta race on the 4th of July but thus far no prizes have been offered. Last year the race attracted a great deal of attention the wharves were lined with hundreds of people to see the start and again to see the outcome. That it may be made a feature of the day would it not be well for the Committee of arrangements to offer one or two prizes? The value intrinsically need not be very much but one or two prizes would tend to excite greater competition and a more general interest in the regatta.

EDITORIAL CHANGE.—Mr Jas O'Meara who for several months has had editorial charge of the Commercial announced in the issue of last evening his retirement. No successor has been announced but it is understood that the paper will go on as usual. Mr O'Meara has made the Commercial very lively and readable during his connection with it and the newspaper fraternity as well as his patrons part with him with sincere regret.

BENEFIT TO MR J H VINSON.—This evening Mr J H Vinson will take a benefit at Oro Fino Theater on which occasion the great French drama of Grimaldi will be presented. In the character of Grimaldi Mr Vinson has not, in our judgment a peer in the Pacific coast. He is absolutely great in it. Mr Vinson has not we think appeared for a benefit but once in all his long career in Portland and to night he should have a regular bumper.

GREAT EXCITEMENT AMONG THE CHILDREN.—If anybody wants to know what the excitement is all about let them read a new advertisement in this paper this morning—250 million children to be sold at public auction at 8 P M this evening. The advertisement is cabalistic and mysterious but we suspect it refers in some manner to the floral festival to be held at the M E Church.

PASSENGERS FOR VICTORIA.—The propeller California Rodgers Commander sailed last evening for Victoria and Puget Sound taking the following named passengers: Mrs C N Felton [illegible] children and servant Miss Monroe F McQuade C S Tower G H DeVoe Wm Burdon Thos Golden Mrs Swafford [illegible] Berg Jas Douglass H Saxon A [illegible] L W Felton C J Williams.

JUSTICES AND CONSTABLES.—The following official bonds were filed in the County Clerk's office yesterday: T A Newell Justice of the Peace for East Portland Precinct $1 000 sureties J C Hawthorne and [illegible] P C Williams. Constable for the same precinct $1 000 sureties Nat H Lane and [illegible] Williams. Patrick Garry Constable for [illegible] precinct $ [illegible] 000 sureties J W Cook and W W Spaulding.

THE RIVER.—We see by the dispatch to the Commercial last evening that the Columbia at Umatilla was at a stand and that at Wallula it had risen about an inch. The back water in the Willamette [illegible] has fallen something more than a foot from the highest point reached. It is not likely [illegible] have much further increase of the June [illegible] here.

PERSONAL.—Mr S A Clark of the Salem Statesman [illegible] evening.

[illegible] Mr [illegible] and Mr [illegible] W Quimby and [illegible] steamer [illegible] evening [illegible] Mr [illegible] Meara [illegible] was also a passenger for San Francisco.

[illegible] The greater part of the day [illegible] was occupied in the trial of the case of [illegible] Wm Campbell [illegible] A few unimportant [illegible] in the morning.

INSURANCE.—Judge O N Denny, formerly of the Dalles and late of California, has undertaken an agency for the Widow and Orphan Fund Life Insurance Company of Nashville, Tennessee and has opened a ... office in this city—at the Odd Fellows Temple. We understand this Company to be connected with the order of Odd Fellows or at least in no manner under the control of the order. Of Judge Denny the Agent for Oregon we take pleasure in saying that he is a gentleman well and favorably known not only for his business qualities but for high personal integrity and we feel certain that whoever shall have any business ... with him will find everything to be exactly ... in place.

... —Many friends are glad to see Dr ... younger son abroad again nearly recovered from the effects of a broken leg. The skill and care of Drs Wilson, ... and ... have triumphed over a severe compound fracture and the leg will soon be as good as new. Dr ... being accidentally present at the first examination was invited to accompany the other gentlemen in their visits and though each is qualified for the critical task yet the grateful family makes no distinction between them.

... Reader, there is a dispatch for you at the Occidental Hotel.

Decline and Fall of Portland

...

There lines were called to mind in reading Grasshopper Jim's article entitled East Portland ... in Sunday morning last.

He now cook ... like must have prepared a poor breakfast for Grasshopper and when Jim wrote the article he was suffering from an aggravated attack of dyspepsia which

> Filling his belly with dyspeptic sighs,
> ...
> ... did his lower parts impede the upper
> And much the brain aged ... works molest and hinder
>
> It was ... people ... Portland
> ...
> ... sat then down ...
> And slept away the ... day
> ... repose
>
> ... like an insect
> ...
> ...
> ...
>
> Ben Holladay ...
> And there ...
> With bold and ...
> But at ... sleeps ...
> As they were of the dead
>
> What would the wicked Ben
> What ...
> ... beneath his wing
> That ... Holladay
> And ... his eye!

That cruel monster, Holladay has picked out Jack Wheeler for a victim. He comes his enjoyment of pleasant dreams of future wealth from the enhancement in value of his farm when the iron horse shall snort past his front yard and thus Ben discovers his foibles and weakness and pays him sixty five thousand dollars and lo! poor Wheeler with this filthy lucre in his pockets tears streaming down his cheeks takes a last look at his late domain and departs a sadder, if not a wiser man all through the machinations of this wicked Ben.

> And now the wanton Ben
> Is all in merry glee
> Was ever wight by day or night
> So wondrous bad as he?

Alights for his refreshment upon poor old gentlemen Stephens, that sturdy pioneer who, for thirty years has assisted to make the wilderness of Oregon blossom like a rose who toiled in early days with the other pioneers to wrest this land from the hands of the savage whose silvery hairs of honorable age only served to make him another victim of Ben's rapacity. He wanted frogs for his dyspeptic stomach, so he ensnared that good honorable old gentleman within his toils got up an excursion to the Sound and while there at the mercy of this monster of the sea and land Mr Stephens takes the paltry sum of ten thousand dollars in coin for his water lots, and the old gentleman is thus deprived from ever here after having the profit of supplying future Del monicos with frogs for epicurian stomachs.

> Ben the rascal must be slain
> Alas the best of mortal plans
> Full often prove in vain

He crosses the river and winds himself boa constrictor like around that gentleman whom the people take delight in honoring Mr E M Burton, our County Commissioner elect. Ben finds him in his old homestead enjoying this otium cum dignitate with his children around enjoying the full happiness of a well spent life. But, alas! "this world is all a fleeting show for man's illusions given." His homestead must be made desolate by this ruthless invader, the home of his family must be vacated, the fiat has gone forth.

> Can such a thing be
> And overcome us like a summer cloud,
> Without our special wonder

Mr Burton takes the golden ducats, eight thousand dollars and amidst the cries and sorrows of his heretofore happy family, departs from the scene of his past joys, to be desecrated by the monster, Ben. But the O S N Co" are after him and now upon the vanquished Ben.

> Behold the victor's tread
> They trample on his ugly limbs
> They trample on his head
> Until the cursed Ben
> A thousand times is dead

But Ben Phoenix like, he rises again—this time at Astoria where, under the kindly care of ye king of caterers Arrigoni he takes a wand and on the sands of the Columbia, makes figures of fine steamboats plying said waters even into the rat hole of Portland and Messrs Ainsworth the proud Reed of the large girth, Ladd the meek become excited—they scent trouble in a new quarter, their teeth chatter, ague-like they keep courage up and gnaw on files the lordly Hayward receiveth no dividends he calleth them to account and findeth them in sackcloth and ashes with no one to do them honor their die is cast. We ne'er shall see their like again in Oregon. Our people weep for what will become of our immense trade and traffic with Eastern Oregon! Who will do honor to distinguished strangers who visit us! Who will give the Democracy coin to rid it of its monsters? Who will get them to spurn the Eighth Resolution and then win them back to repudiation and other ills? Who will be a father to our helpless children and take care of our money? What shall we do with our chickens and eggs when Gaston is not here to receive them and Ainsworth Ladd, Reed & Co not ready to buy them and take real estate and pay taxes thereon? Oh where are our Oregonians who if make us add leave us in the hands of that monster Ben Holladay, who has swallowed up Portland and his craw is yet empty?

The acknowledged superiority of his merchandise which commands here and in the markets of the interior, a relatively higher price excites the cupidity of some manufacturers and every day he sees increasing the number of those who, by counterfeit or imitation of his mark seek to deceive the public palming upon them their inferior productions for the genuine G VENARD CHARTRES COFFEE. This fraud ... deceives nobody after a trial but only adds to the favorable opinion of the consumers the very flattering though unwilling testimony of the counterfeiters. In June

So sweet, so sweet the [illegible] blowing
[illegible]
So [illegible]
[illegible] with the bee

So sweet, so sweet [illegible] rushes
[illegible]
So [illegible] reeds [illegible]
[illegible]

So sweet, so sweet from off the fields of clover
The west wind [illegible]
So sweet, so sweet with news of some one's lover
[illegible]

So near, so near, now [illegible] rushes
Now plover, blackbird [illegible]
And water [illegible]
That I may know what all [illegible] near

So [illegible] the thrushes kept [illegible]
Plover or blackbird ever fleeting me!
So [illegible]
Over bar and bank in brawling, boisterous glee

So [illegible] plover
[illegible] in the fret and fall,
Could drown the voice, the low voice of my lover,
My lover calling through the thrushes' call

Come down, come down [illegible] he called [illegible] the thrushes
[illegible]
And while the water laughed through reeds and rushes
The blackbird [illegible] the plover piped, Come down

Then down and off, and through the fields of clover,
I [illegible] to my lover's call,
Listening no more to blackbird, thrush or plover,
The water's laugh, the mill stream's fret and fall

A Murder Trial in Nevada

(From the Galaxy.)

"I was sitting here," said the Judge, "in this old pulpit, holding court, and we were trying a big, wicked-looking Spanish desperado for killing the husband of a bright, pretty Mexican woman. It was a lazy summer day, and an awfully long one, and the witnesses were tedious. None of us took any interest in the trial except that nervous, uneasy devil of a woman—because you know how they love and how they hate, and this one had loved her husband with all her might, and now she had boiled it down into hate, and stood here spitting it at that Spaniard with her eyes; and I tell you she would stir me up too, with a little of her summer lightning occasionally. Well, I had my coat off and heels up, lolling and sweating, and smoking one of those cabbage cigars the San Francisco people used to think were good enough for us in those times, and the lawyers they all had their coats off and were smoking and whittling, and the witnesses the same, and so was the prisoner. Well, the fact is, there wasn't any interest in a murder trial then, because the fellow was always brought in not guilty, the jury expecting him to do as much for them some time; and although the evidence was straight and square against this Spaniard, we knew we could not convict him without seeming to be rather high handed and sort of reflecting on every gentleman in the community, for there warn't any carriages and liveries then, and so the only 'style' there was, was to keep your private grave yard. But that woman seemed to have her heart set on hanging that Spaniard, and you'd ought to have seen how she would glare on him a minute, and then look up at me in her pleading way, and then turn and for the next five minutes search the jury's faces—and by and by drop her face in her hands for just a little while as if she was most ready to give up; but out she'd come again directly and be as live and anxious as ever. But when the jury announced the verdict, not guilty, and I told the prisoner he was acquitted and free to go, that woman rose up till she appeared to be as tall and grand as a seventy-four-gun ship, and says she:

"'Judge, do I understand you to say that this man is not guilty, that murdered my husband without any cause before my own eyes and my little children's, and that all has been done to him that ever justice and the law can do?'"

"'The same,' says I.

"And then what do you reckon she did? Why, she turned on that smirking Spanish fool like a wild-cat, and out with a 'navy' and shot him dead in open court!"

"That was spirited, I am willing to admit."

"Wasn't it though?" said the Judge admiringly. "I wouldn't have missed it for anything. I adjourned court right on the spot, and we put on our coats and went out and took up a collection for her and her cubs, and sent them over the mountains to their friends. Ah, she was a spirited wench."

Didn't Catch the Train.—The most difficult thing (says a cynical old batchelor) in the world for a woman to do is to get ready to go anywhere. And there is nothing a woman will resent quicker or more fiercely than an intimation that she may miss the train. Our friend, Brayfogle, gives us an instance of this. Mr Brayfogle was supposed to take the ten o'clock train on the Bee Line, to visit some relatives in an interior town. Having suffered on previous occasions for injudicious suggestions, Bray thought for once he would let things take their own course. So he sipped his coffee and ate his egg on toast while madame curled and powdered, and danced attendance on the looking glass and tied hair on the back of her head.

Then Bray sat by the stove an hour reading the morning paper while the madame still continued to get ready. At last just as he had reached the final paragraph madame tied her bonnet strings under her chin, took one long, lingering, loving look at the image reflected in the glass, and announced:

"Well, my dear, I'm ready."

"Ready for what?" asked Bray, in well affected astonishment.

"To go to the depot, to be sure," said Mrs Brayfogle, tartly.

"Oh!" said Bray, "I'd forgotten. Well madame," continued he, looking at his watch, "that train has been gone thirteen minutes. Just keep on your things and you'll be ready for the train to-morrow morning."

We draw a veil over what followed. We are assured, however, that the next morning Mrs. B. was ready an hour ahead of time.

Clever Conversation.—Half-a-dozen clever men when they get together almost inevitably begin to aim at brilliant conversation, and brilliant conversation as a general rule is exceedingly tiresome. We sometimes lament the loss of the art, and wish that we could have heard Johnson and Burke calling out each other's powers. The wish is natural enough, yet I have little doubt that if any conversation was written down precisely as it was spoken, and not as it ought to have been spoken, it would be scarcely possible to read it. The successful hits have come down to us, whilst the failures have perished, and we rashly infer that the surviving grains are a fair sample of the average staple. The inference is surely wrong. Boswell is always sneering at Goldsmith for his efforts to cut in and shine in the conversation, and laughs at the blunders which ensued when he happened to succeed. Goldsmith's biographers have been very indignant, and have tried to prove that he was really brilliant, as though they knew better than those who had talked to him over a hundred dinner tables. The true line of defence, it seems to me, would be different. I should admit that Goldsmith's talk was silly and blundering, and claim it as a merit. Who does not sympathize with the efforts of a sociable man to break down a monopoly of talk, and still more with the desire to substitute a little wholesome nonsense for sententious epigrams and ponderous witticisms? I have, I confess, a weakness for Johnson which rather struggles against my convictions; but I have a strong impression that Goldsmith's blundering was a pleasant relief even to the great doctor's vigorous hard hitting, and still more decidedly that it was better than nine tenths of the talk which generally affects to be brilliant. The old conversational excellence is decayed partly, I imagine, because we have no longer those small societies in which every man's intimate knowledge of his neighbor's weakness led to much sharper and closer fencing than is often practicable in a mixed assembly; but partly, too, because we have grown wise enough to know that the value of social meetings depends upon perfect relaxation of mind and the absence of any effort to sparkle and astonish.—The Use of Fools.

A veteran of the war of 1812 lost both arms and both legs in Perry's victory, yet for years would run and dance on his knees with great agility, and taking a stick in the elbow joint, would fence and defend himself, parry and thrust, advance and retreat with great alacrity, and only succumbed at last to too much whisky.

VARIETIES

Spotted Tail's opinion of the Wisconsin Legislature is that it is a poor place for scalps.

The editor of a Chicago children's paper received a letter from a lady subscriber, who writes: "Our little Annie died last week, after reading the last number of your valuable paper."

Jerrold said one day he would make a pun upon anything his friend would name. A friend asked him whether he could pun upon the signs of the zodiac, to which he replied: "By Gemini, I Can-cer."

A young lady once married a man by the name of Dust against the wishes of her parents. After a short time they lived unhappily together, and she returned to her parents, [illegible] but they refused to receive her, saying: "[illegible] but unto Dust thou shalt return!" And she got up and [illegible].

It is reported that a gentleman visiting Barbadoes relates, as part of his experience in dining with a high toned colored family, that when the turkey was carved he was asked if he would have "some of de insurrection," which, after a time, he thought he discovered to be a delicate invitation to take some stuffing.

Thackeray had a nose of most peculiar shape, as may be seen from his portrait. The bridge was very low and the nostrils extremely well developed. On one occasion, at a party where Douglass Jerrold was present, it was mentioned that Mr Thackeray's religious opinions were unsettled—and that a lady of his acquaintance was doing her best to convert him to Romanism. "To Romanism!" exclaimed Jerrold. "Let us hope she'll begin with the nose."

Heartrending Sallibrity.—The following conveys a melancholy picture of the prospects of the medical profession in the neighborhood of Paris. A young physician writes to a druggist in the Rue de Rambuteau, Paris: "Sir—I deeply regret to inform you that it is simply impossible for me to meet [illegible] for three hundred and eighty francs, and I beg of you to renew the same. We are, indeed, having a frightful time of it here [illegible] in the whole country side. Your despairing (deadly) servant," etc.

A Universal Exposition will be held in Vienna in 1873. It is intended to make it equal in all particulars to the Paris movement of a similar character.

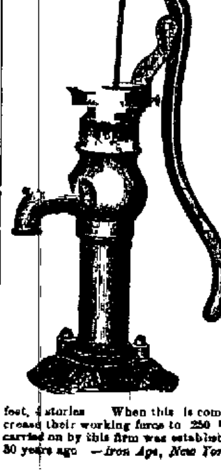
C. H. MYERS,
AGENT FOR
RUMSEY & CO.,
Seneca Falls, New York,
THE LARGEST
Pump Manufactory
IN THE WORLD.



The Catalogue of RUMSEY & CO. of Seneca Falls embraces over 200 different styles and sizes of Lift and Force Pumps. They are now turning out 1,500 Pumps per week, which range in price from $4 00 to $400, employing 150 hands in the business. J. A. Rumsey has recently patented an improved galvanized non-corrosive cast iron Pump, which is also frost proof. An improved Hand Fire Engine of great efficiency is also on their list. The machinery in Rumsey & Co.'s Factory is of the most efficient kind, much of it being of their own invention, and is driven by an unfailing water power. They are now building a new factory 84x42 feet, 4 stories. When this is completed they will increase their working force to 250 hands. The business carried on by this firm was established by Rumsey about 30 years ago.—Iron Age, New York. d14dtf

PUBLIC SALE

Of Land for Delinquent City Taxes.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT IN AND BY virtue of a warrant issued by order of the Common Council of the City of Portland, and to me directed and attached to the Tax Roll of the City of Portland for the collection of taxes levied February 7th, 1870, and commanding me to collect the taxes designated thereon as delinquent, and for want of personal property to make said taxes, I have levied upon and on Thursday, the 23d day of June, 1870, I will sell at public auction at the Court House door in the City of Portland, Multnomah County, State of Oregon, as much of the following described lots or parcels of land as may be necessary to pay the taxes due thereon in United States coin as levied February 7th, 1870, together with all fees and costs, said land being situated in the City of Portland, County and State aforesaid, and was assessed to the following named persons, to wit:

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system? Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to Doctor Gibbon, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate cases without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who, in their advertisements publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practised by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, a disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of his complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written agreement binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions for use, for Ten Dollars, securely registered, letter or through Wells Fargo & Co.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders, who, with bogus sworn certificates, play upon the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors [illegible] names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places [illegible] were tradesmen [illegible] came too lazy to work at their trades. Some are [illegible] shoemakers, newspaper [illegible] etc. Look over the San Francisco Directory and you will not find their Medical Institutes, but you will find their [illegible] in the Directory for 1862 and 1868. The only way to avoid [illegible] is to make [illegible] and [illegible] Physicians [illegible] no safety in trusting [illegible] and what they are. Dr. Gibbon [illegible] the people by exhibiting [illegible] certificates [illegible] letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy [illegible] who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, Private Entrance on Commercial, San Francisco. Post Office Box 252.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 252 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the Daily Oregonian. jy9dly
